Which Is Your Choice?

To be prosperous or to remain in want?

You can be one of the successful if you are not a coward.

If you have the nerve to try, there is no question but that you will be prosperous. There is no accomplishment in wants, so you might want and want all your life and then die in want, but let trial take the place of want and let trial be composed of physical and mental labor, and success is yours. Taking this as your motto, carefully consider the merits of the investment home purchasing contracts issued by the Standard Trust Company. This company's method of making loans on real estate provides for those who are aspiring and energetic an opportunity of securing a home or paying off a mortgage on terms that cannot be surpassed by any company, corporation or individual. ## WILL ROW FOR PENSACOLA CHALLENGE CUP SATURDAY

CREWS OF THE VARIOUS SHIPS OF THE FLEET WILL ENTER CONTEST FOR THE CUP DONATED SEVERAL YEARS AGO BY PENSACOLA CITIZENS.

The rowing races between the various boat crews of vessels composing the battleship squadron, for the Pensacola challenge cup, will occur Saturday afternoon, provided the weather is favorable for such sport.

The races will begin at 2:30 o'clock, and it is probable that there will be from five to seven ships represented. It is hoped that at least seven ships will have representation.

From each ship there will probably be two or three rowing crews to enter the various events, and it is expected that the event will be a most exciting one, inasmuch as every ship has its crews hard at work training for the event. In fact they have been at work for several weeks getting in shape and there is much rivalry between them. Many wagers have been made by the officers and men of the various ships, and much more money will likely be put up before the event is pulled off.

The Pensacola challenge cup is now in possession of the Maine, the flagship of Admiral Evans, and although the vessel has stronger crews than those representing the ship last year, the other vessels are also strengthened and the races will therefore be of more interest.

The course will be the same as that of last year, and notices have been sent out that all ships will be open to visitors with the exception of the Maine, Alabama and Olympia.

It is also probable that the twelve-crewed race between the crews of the Kearsarge and Missouri will be pulled off Saturday, though this has not yet been definitely decided upon. The Kearsarge crew which defeated the Illinois, has posted the amount of money necessary, in addition to the wagers offered, but up to a late hour yesterday afternoon, it was stated that no money had been put up for the Missouri.

HISTORY OF SHEEP.

Associated With Mankind From the Earliest Known Days.

Of all domesticated animals the sheep has from time immemorial been most closely associated with mankind, writes R. Henry Rew in Outing. An erudite author sixty years ago, having laboriously collated an assortment of allusions to sheep made by sacred and profane writers, concluded that "the history of these animals is so interwoven with the history of man that they never existed in a wild state at all. Biblical history from the time of Abel is full of allusions to the flocks which formed the chief possessions of the Jewish people and their neighbors. The spoils of war and the tribute of vassal kings largely consisted of sheep. Thus we read that Mesha, king of Moab, was a sheep master and rendered unto the king of Israel a hundred thousand lambs and a hundred thousand rams with the wool. Moses after his victory over the Midianites obtained as loot no less than 675,000 sheep, and long before the Christian era sheep were cultivated in western Europe.

Spain and Italy possessed them from an unknown period, although long after Rome was founded the inhabitants had not learned to shear the fleece, and until the time of Pliny the practice of plucking it from the skin was not wholly abandoned, so long that the humble shepherd of Syria preceded in their knowledge of necessary arts the future conquerors of their country.

A Long Sentence of Six Letters.

Here is a sentence of thirty-two words which some ingenious person has constructed of the six letters found in the word "malden": "Ida, a maiden; a mean man named Ned Dean, and Media, a mad dame, made me mend a die and dine and mind a mine in a dim den in Malden."

NO NEWS REGARDING FISHING SMACK FLORIDA.

There was no further news yesterday regarding the fate of the fishing schooner Florida, of the fleet of E. E. Saunders & Co., but the general impression prevails that the vessel is safe, and is now on the fishing banks.

The storm which swept over the fishing grounds when the Florida and eight other vessels were at anchor there, was a terrific one, but the vessels that were caught in the gale parted their cables and all being good sea boats, they no doubt escaped with slight injury.

"GOOD GROWING WEATHER."

A good head of hair is as much a "crown of glory" for man as it is for women, notwithstanding all the poetry sex exclusively. Others have been benefited and are loud in its praise. It cleanses the scalp, kills the germ at the root of the hair and by keeping the scalp sweet, pure and wholesome, the hair is bound to grow as nature intended, regardless of the temperature. ## A TRAINED NURSE SPEAKS OUT.

Trained nurses as a rule are a fine lot of women, and if they were men would make magnificent soldiers. They are trained to obey to the minutest detail and it is seldom that one can be got to express an opinion on any remedy, being content to carry out the physician's orders. Speaking on the subject one of the best known nurses of Pittsburg, Pa., said: "I only recall one case where I felt called upon to speak right out and tell the doctors what I thought. I had been in to attend an old lady suffering with chronic constipation and whose enfeebled condition precluded the use of catharsis, rubric, liniment or other powerful purgatives. The doctors were giving the patient large doses of olive oil without any appreciable results. I insisted upon Red Raven, knowing that as a laxative, though mild, it was exceedingly sure. To my delight the doctors after consultation, prescribed a bottle every morning for three mornings. A prompt change came over the patient and in a few days she was relieved. This is the only experience I ever had with Red Raven in a critical illness, but in a number of attacks of constipation, torpid liver, headache and biliousness, I have known them to bring quick relief."

CLIFF LYMAN SHOT AT ONE MAN AND HIT ANOTHER, IN A FRACAS YESTERDAY.

In a fight early yesterday morning near Lyman's saloon, corner of Main and Baylen streets, between Henry Campbell and Cliff Lyman, the latter shot and painfully wounded Joe Draughn. All parties are coliced.

Lyman and Campbell engaged in a controversy over some trifling matter, and Campbell, it is stated, was getting the best of the bout, when Lyman secured his revolver and opened fire upon his antagonist. Three shots were fired, all of which missed Campbell, but one lodged in the arm of Joe Draughn, who was an onlooker.

The wound is not considered a dangerous one although very painful.

The participants in the fight were arrested.

A BRAVE TOREADOR.

One of the Most Thrilling Incidents of the Bull Ring.

The famous Spanish toreador Reverte figured in one of the most thrilling incidents ever witnessed in the arena. It was at Bayonne. After disposing of two bulls Reverte had twice plunged his sword into a third of great strength and ferocity, and as the beast continued rearing wildly the spectators began to hiss Reverte for bungling. Wounded to the very quick of his pride, the Spaniard shouted, "The bull is slain!" and, throwing aside his sword, sank on one knee with folded arms in the middle of the ring. He was right, but he had not allowed for the margin of accident. The wounded beast charged full upon him, but the matador, splendid to the last, knelt motionless as a statue, while the spectators held their breath in horrified suspense. Reaching his victim, the bull literally bounded at him, and as he sprang he sank in death, with his last effort giving one fearful lunge of the kneeing man and laid bare the bone from the knee to the joint. Still Reverte never flinched, but remained kneeling, exultant in victory, but calmly contemptuous of applause, till he was carried away to heal him of his grievous wound.

PRETTY WEDDING AT WARRINGTON

MISS EMMA BURKHARDT AND MR. AUGUSTUS HOFFMAN JOINED IN MATRIMONY MONDAY.

Special to The Journal.

Warrington, April 26.—The wedding of Miss Emma Celia Burkhardt and Mr. Augustus Hoffman Monday morning at St. John's Catholic church was one of the most beautiful ceremonies that has taken place in this town. Being Easter Monday the beautiful Easter decorations added much to the beauty of the scene, as the church had been handsomely decorated. Long before the appointed hour the church was filled with the many friends of the young couple and promptly at 8 o'clock the bridal party entered the church and were awaited at the chancel rail by Rev. Father Brady.

The bridesmaids were handsomely gowned in white silk beautifully laced and the groomsmen wore the conventional black. The party entered in the following order: Miss Graham, with Mr. Alex. Fine and Miss Mary Suley with Mr. Chas. Burkhardt, preceded the bride who entered leaning on the arm of her father, Mr. Henry Burkhardt. The party advanced to the altar where the marriage was solemnized, the attendants forming in a graceful group around the bride and groom.

After the service the bridal party drove at once to the home of the bride on Commissioner street where a reception was held. The home was beautifully decorated to celebrate the marriage. The decorations were very handsome large United States flags against backgrounds of green. In the dining room the many magnificent presents were arranged, which testified to the popularity of the young couple. The Army and Navy Union and the Live Oak Club attended the wedding in a body, as the groom is a popular member of both societies. Mr. and Mrs. Hoffman have the good wishes of all their fellow townsmen.

The Easter ball given by the ladies of St. John's Episcopal church Monday evening was largely attended.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Corners of Pensacola, have been visiting friends in Warrington this week.

Miss Louise Dooley has been the guest of Miss Katie Burkhardt for the past few days.

The ladies of St. John's Catholic church will give a supper and ball at the Odd Fellows' hall May 8th.

Tar and Feathers in 1180.

In England the penalty of tar and feathers was introduced in 1180, when Richard I. before setting out for the Holy Land, ordained, in order to preserve the discipline of his fleet, that whosoever should be convicted of theft should first have his head shaved; that boiling pitch should then be poured upon it, and a cushion of feathers (de la plume d'oie) shaken over it. He was afterward to be put on shore at the first place the ship touched at, though, after a baptism of boiling pitch, the poor wretch would have little life left in him. In modern times the practice has found favor with the populace as a means of readily executing justice on an offender whom the law perhaps shows no anxiety to reach.—London Mail.

Hard to Please.

"The only perfectly beautiful woman," said a well known sculptor, "must have been a goddess. I never saw a perfectly beautiful woman in my life, nor even heard of the existence of one. As for Cleopatra, a learned Englishman has discovered in some ancient gospel written on papyrus that she had the foxy red hair and the freckled skin of all the Ptolemy family and was obliged to resort to hair dyes and cosmetics to keep up her reputation for looks. But perhaps the severest shock to the feelings is to learn that Mary, queen of Scots, actually squinted, and that Mme. Du Barry wore a set of false teeth."

The Shrewmouse.

The smallest mammal in the British tale is the shrewmouse. This is not only the smallest British mammal, but, with the exception of one other of the same genus, the smallest in Europe. The harvest mouse is sometimes thought to be even smaller, but the length of its head and body is often two and one-half inches, while that of the lesser shrew is rarely more than two inches. The tail measures about one and one-third inches, and its teeth are so extremely small that a lens is required to detect them.
